Dear co-authors,

The CT CAC paper for RII has been accepted to Circ:I (see below). Before they can publish, they would like us to do the following:

1. Per journal policy, authors whose placement in the author order has been altered must provide statements to the editorial office that attest to his/her agreement with any changes in the author list. With the addition of Roderick Deano, all author who appear after Dr. Deano must provide this statement. In addition, Drs. Pursnani and Chou must provide statements regarding the changes associated with their placement in the author list. These statements can be emailed to epicillo@circulationjournal.org.
2. Amit Pursnani in the copyright transfer agreement indicated that he did not give final approval of the submitted manuscript. As responding in the affirmative is required of authorship, this issue must be addressed prior to publication. We will resend the form to Dr. Pursnani in the event the form was completed as such in error; if not, this issue will need to be addressed among the authors.

So please send an email to epicillo@circulationjournal.org confirming your agreement for authorship position ASAP.

Udo: do you have Amit's new email address? He needs to make on the disclosure that he has approved the manuscript. I think he forgot to mark this box off.

Thanks,
Quynh

RE: CIRCCVIM/2014/002225R3
Utility of Coronary Artery Calcium Scanning Beyond Coronary CT Angiography in the Emergency Department Evaluation for Acute Chest Pain: The ROMICAT II Trial

Dear Dr. Truong,

Thank you for returning your revised manuscript promptly. We are pleased to inform you that it is now acceptable for publication in Circulation: Cardiovascular Imaging.

Pending receipt of all items required for publication, we plan to publish this paper as soon as possible.

1. Per journal policy, authors whose placement in the author order has been altered must provide statements to the editorial office that attest to his/her agreement with any changes in the author list. With the addition of Roderick Deano, all author who appear after Dr. Deano must provide this statement. In addition, Drs. Pursnani and Chou must provide statements regarding the changes associated with their placement in the author list. These statements can be emailed to epicillo@circulationjournal.org.
2. Amit Pursnani in the copyright transfer agreement indicated that he did not give final approval of the submitted manuscript. As responding in the affirmative is required of authorship, this issue must be addressed prior to publication. We will resend the form to Dr. Pursnani in the event the form was completed as such in error; if not, this issue will need to be addressed among the authors.

We will proceed with the processing of your manuscript for publication as soon as all required materials are received. During the copyediting phase, there may be some changes in phrasing, but there will be no alteration of scientific content. When you receive your galley proofs, please read, correct, and return them immediately to avoid delay in publication. Please note that it is your responsibility to make yourself available to review the proofs whenever they arrive, and if you are not available, publication of your manuscript will be delayed.

Lastly, please take note of the journal's publication fees:

Fee per page: $70; Supplemental fee for exceeding the word limit: $425 per every 1,000 words over.

We are very pleased to have the opportunity to publish this interesting work. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Jonathon Leipsic, MD
