In the above article, the uploaded version of the structural equation model figure (Figure 1) is incorrect and does not match its description in the text.

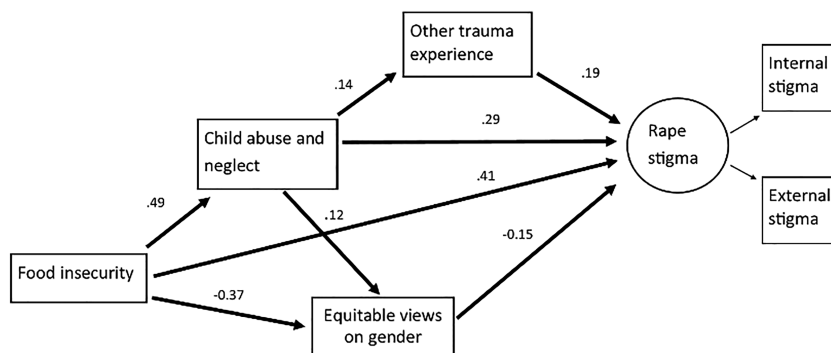

The corrected figure is provided below:

In page 334, there is also an error in Table 5 as the lower confidence interval and the effect size were transposed in the table for the Unstandardised and Standardised Coefficients. The corrected table is provided below:

Lastly in page 335, Results section, there is an error in the second to last sentence and it should read as follows:

There was also a pathway from food insecurity to rape stigma mediated by childhood trauma and exposure to other trauma, with the direction of effect indicating that greater trauma exposure was associated with more rape stigma.

The authors apologize for these errors.
