

News item

Message from the President of the International Academy of Chiropractic Neurology

Joseph S. Ferezy DC, FIACN

International Academy of Chiropractic Neurology

The best way to introduce you to the International Academy of Chiropractic Neurology (IACN) would be to ask you to simply look at the stunning quality of the individuals who comprise the IACN membership. Authors, educators, and a wide variety of practitioners of chiropractic neurology have joined the IACN in a common spirit, leading to IACN's well-deserved reputation for diversity and excellence.

Since 1997, the IACN has been an international leader in the field of chiropractic neurology. Upholding the highest standards, the IACN has accomplished many firsts in chiropractic specialty education. Only qualified chiropractic physicians are eligible as students in the program and for diplomate certification. Only programs sponsored by Council on Chiropractic Education (or equivalent)—accredited chiropractic institutions are accepted toward diplomate status. Many of the founding members of the IACN were members of the first chiropractic specialty organization to use the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners to develop a specialty examination for chiropractic neurologists. The IACN was also the first chiropractic neurology organization to join the National Organization for Competency Assurance. The IACN pioneered recognition of electrodiagnosis certification and the forum to have multiple specialty boards examine candidates together in one coordinated event. The IACN is also the first group to hold an international meeting for ALL chiropractic neurologists, regardless of their designation. The IACN has circulated multiple newsletters to every known chiropractic neurologist on earth and given presentations on board certification to the Association of Chiropractic Colleges.

The long list of accomplishments would not exist without the wonderful people who have taken this idea and donated countless hours of time, energy, and resources to make it a reality. Over the years, IACN members have laughed together, learned together, and argued among themselves; and we have lost some of our dearest friends. Members of the IACN have grown to become a family dedicated to an outlet for expression and communication of professional opinions regarding the neurologic sciences as they relate to the chiropractic profession. Please visit www.iacn.org for more information about the IACN and consider joining the members of this fine institution. To all of my past, present, and future family of IACN members, I appreciate each of you and thank you for your service to the IACN and to our great profession.