In the Discussion section, second paragraph, third sentence of our article, the sentence states: “Second, only publications before 1997 were referenced, given the fact that MRI of cartilage is an incredibly dynamic field and major advancements have been made in the past decade.”

The sentence should read as follows, substituting the word “after” for “before”: “Second, only publications after 1997 were referenced, given the fact that MRI of cartilage is an incredibly dynamic field and major advancements have been made in the past decade.”

We apologize for this error.
