

Factors predicting surgical site infection after posterior lumbar surgery: A multicenter retrospective study: Retraction

In the article, “Factors predicting surgical site infection after posterior lumbar surgery: A multicenter retrospective study”,^[1] which appeared in Volume 96, Issue 5 of Medicine, in Table 2, some of the confidence intervals are incorrect because the wrong mode was selected in the statistical operations. Due to this incorrect data, this article is being retracted.

Reference

- [1] Wang T, Wang H, Yang D-L. Factors predicting surgical site infection after posterior lumbar surgery: A multicenter retrospective study. Medicine. 96:5; e6042.