

Hemolytic jaundice induced by pharmacological dose ascorbic acid in glucose-6-phosphate dehydrogenase deficiency: A case report: Retraction

The journal is retracting the article, “Hemolytic jaundice induced by pharmacological dose ascorbic acid in glucose-6-phosphate dehydrogenase deficiency: A case report”,^[1] which appears in Volume 97, Issue 51 of Medicine, after a reader concern about the article. The article does not support the hypothesis.

Reference

- [1] Wu S, Wu G, Wu H. Hemolytic jaundice induced by pharmacological dose ascorbic acid in glucose-6-phosphate dehydrogenase deficiency: A case report. Medicine. 97;51:e13588.