In this paper, the authors report that exosomal circ_0006156 impacts progression of papillary thyroid cancer. The authors reported that they reanalyzed these problems and that after communication with the “revision agency,” the agency could not guarantee the uniqueness of the paper, including its data, charts, and photographs. The authors feel it necessary to explicitly correct the scientific record and are therefore retracting the article.

The authors apologize to the scientific community for any inconvenience this has caused.
