

Supplementary Figure 2: Shown are the mean growth curves of all bacterial strains in mono-culture from which the intracellular and extracellular B₁₂ concentrations were measured. Growth was monitored over time (days) using optical density (OD₆₀₀). The red circle represents the time of sampling for intracellular and extracellular B₁₂ detection.