

Supplementary Figure 2. Summary heatmap of M.tb-specific antibody data. Luminex was used to measure antibody responses in isotype, subclass, FcR binding, and Fc glycosylation against a panel of M.tb antigens. Heatmap indicates all generated antibody data, Z-scored by assay. Each row represents one individual, and each column represents a single antigen-specific antibody assay.