Questionnaire

Article Publishing Charge

Heliyon is a fully Open Access journal. The journal's costs are covered solely by author publication charges. There are no subscription fees for our readers, or page and figure charges for our authors. Accordingly, all authors of accepted articles will receive an invoice charging the article publication fee of $1,950 USD (plus VAT and local taxes where applicable).

Heliyon has a small budget for reducing Open Access charges for authors in developing countries and others in genuine financial hardship. We will grant 100% and 50% discounts on the article publication fee for requests from authors from Research4Life group A and group B countries, respectively. Please note that funds for other reductions are limited, however, as the journal would not be sustainable without income from author charges to cover its cost, we do encourage authors to consult with their co-authors, institutional libraries and departments in the cases where there is a gap to cover the publication fee. Authors who have received a special offer or a personal invitation should add a short explanatory note to their cover letter.

For any questions around open access, including the application for a discount on the basis of financial hardship, please contact our open access support team through this webform using the options author/ Open Access and the relevant subject. Please note that requests in the cover letter or other parts in the manuscript are not considered and that the application for support must be submitted through the form outlined above as we are separating the editorial considerations from the financial aspects of the journal. Requests from authors with funding outlined here cannot be considered.

Heliyon Null Hypothesis

Heliyon is launching a Null Hypothesis collection, designed to highlight valuable research presenting results which do not support the proposed hypothesis. Does your study contain results which do not support your hypothesis, sometimes called "negative" results? Your answer to this question will not affect the decision process for your manuscript, but will ensure your article, if published, will receive adequate visibility to underscore the importance of these studies for the scientific community.

Answer
Required:

Please select a response

Yes, my manuscript contains "negative" or "inconclusive" results.

No, my manuscript does not contain "negative" or "inconclusive" results.

We encourage authors to share their Twitter usernames for all authors. These will be used to promote the article on Twitter should your manuscript be accepted.

Special Issue

Is your manuscript being submitted to a special issue?

Answer
Required:

No

Double anonymized peer review

Heliyon offers the option of double anonymized peer review. Papers reviewed under this pilot program will not display author names to reviewers through the submission system, nor will author names be used in our communication with reviewers.

Please ensure that any reference to you as authors is removed from your manuscript file and that the authorship list is included in your cover letter only. Ensuring that all identifying details are removed from other submission files is responsibility and you can find more information can be found on our Guide for Authors page.

When your paper is sent for external peer review, should peer reviewers be able to see you and your co-authors' identities?

Answer
Required:

Please select a response

Yes, I request standard single anonymized peer review for my manuscript.

No, I request double anonymized peer review for my manuscript. I have removed all identifying details from all submission files and only included my authorship list in in the cover letter. If you have not yet prepared your manuscript and auxiliary files in this way, please return to the Attach Files stage and replace the versions uploaded so far with updated ones.

Submission to SSRN First Look

In support of Open Science, Heliyon offers a free preprint service to authors. We have created a journal First Look space on the preprint server SSRN, to share content of interest prior to publication. Preprints allow for early registration with a DOI and provide early dissemination that facilitates collaboration and early citations. When your paper enters peer review, we will post your paper on SSRN where it will be globally available free to read regardless of the publication decision made by the journal. This will have no effect on the editorial process or outcome with the journal. Please consult the SSRN Terms of Use and FAQs.

Answer
Required:
