

Supplementary Fig. S1. Image augmentation techniques (random flipping, rotation, and padding) are applied to tumor cells (upper), stromal cells (middle), and immune cells (lower) to improve the training of the convolutional neural network models.