

Supplementary data 1.

Some worms shake in place, and the flagella shake quickly. Some swim directionally in the field of vision; some are slightly larger than white blood cells, and flagella can be seen.