

Branco, Figure S5

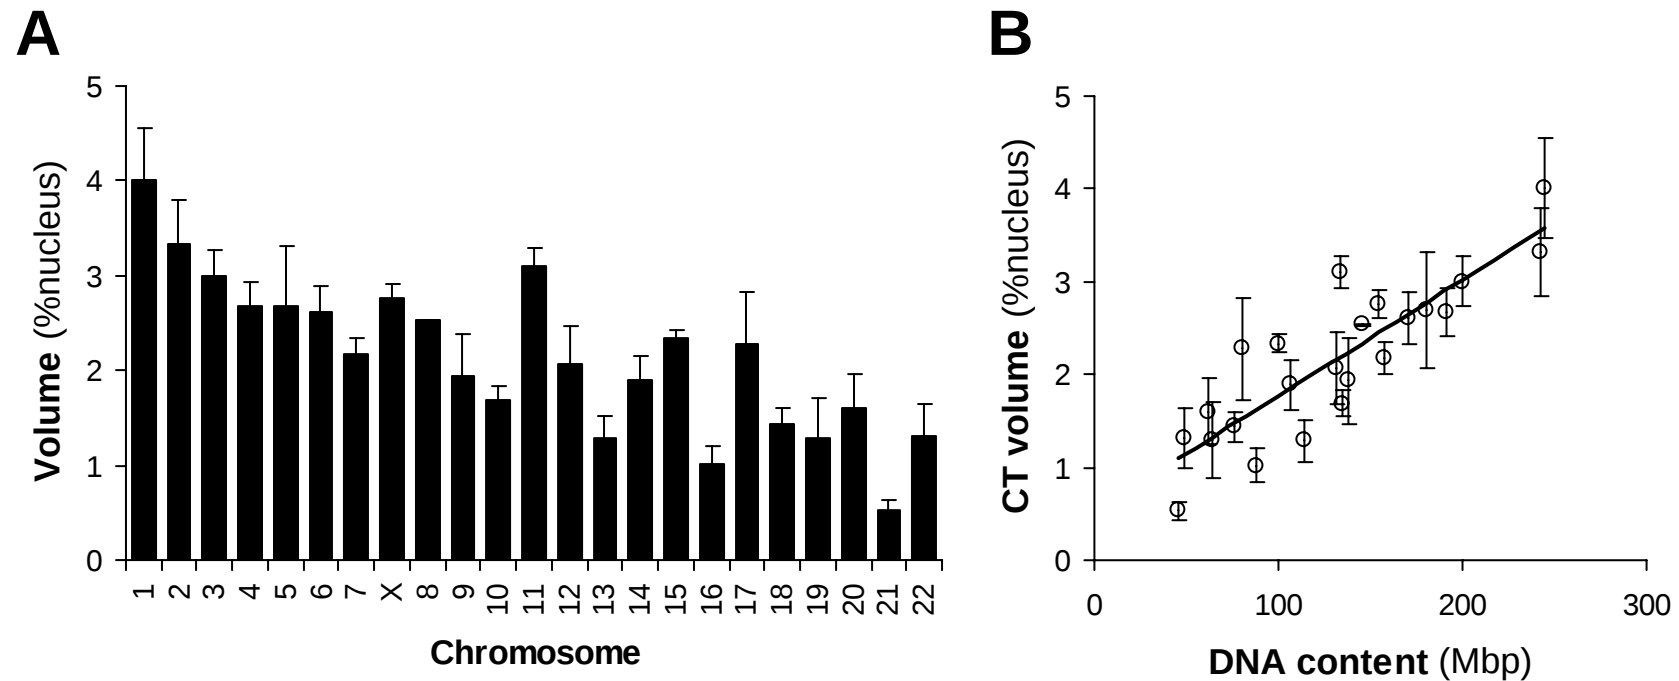

Figure S5. Volumes for all human female CTs in lymphocytes and correlation with DNA content. CT volumes were measured (A) and plotted against their respective DNA content (B). Despite the good correlation, there are significant deviations from the regression line in several data points, which results in distinct DNA compaction ratios for different CTs.