

Additional File 1 Extrinsic optical signals in the visual wulst by electrical stimulation of the left optic papilla. A vascular image of the telencephalic surface, along with the hexagonal recording area, is indicated in the upper left corner. Enlarged signals from three different positions are shown on the right. Color-coded representations of the signals at 7 different timepoints are illustrated.