Magnetic resonance imaging of the spine and the sacroiliac joints in ankylosing spondylitis and undifferentiated spondyloarthritis during treatment with etanercept (Rudwaleit M, Baraliakos X, Listing J, Brandt J, Sieper J, Braun J. Ann Rheum Dis 2005;64:1305–10.)

Words were omitted from the legend of fig 2 of this article. The correct legend is:

“Improvement of inflammatory spinal lesions in a patient with AS in the T₁/Gd-DTPA MRI sequence before (A) and after (B) treatment with etanercept. The hyperintensity of the signal in the vertebra is no longer detectable after 6 weeks of treatment with etanercept.”

Similarly, the legend on the first Contents page of this issue of the Annals referring to the figure on the front cover should be:

“Spinal lesions in a patient with ankylosing spondylitis before (A) and after (B) etanercept”.

Corrections printed in the journal also appear on the Annals website <http://www.annrheumdis.com> and are linked to the original publication
