

Supplementary Figure 1 - Sensitivity analysis of the computer model. Concentrations of reactants in the model were varied individually over a 5-log scale and the model was run to steady-state conditions for each concentration change. Graphs are normalized so that (0,1) indicates the original value used in the model.