A heatmap visualization showing gene expression data. The x-axis represents different samples or conditions, and the y-axis represents individual genes. The color scale ranges from dark blue (low expression) to yellow (high expression). A prominent vertical band of high expression (yellow) is visible in the middle of the heatmap, corresponding to a specific gene across all samples. Other genes show varying levels of expression across the samples, with some showing distinct patterns of up- and down-regulation.
