Figure S1: Comparison of corresponding ratios estimated by two linear methods (lmbr and anovaMix) using the loop design. The line indicates the identity between both methods and most of the points are situated near this identity line.