

Movie 1: Stimulation in the superior colliculus evokes a sustained protraction of the vibrissae. A black dot in the upper left-hand corner indicates the onset and duration of microstimulation.

Movie 2: Stimulation in the motor cortex evokes rhythmic protractions of the vibrissae. A black dot in the upper left-hand corner indicates the onset and duration of microstimulation.