Figure S4: Average Clusteredness for Different K Values. For each K value, the average clus-teredness measures the extent to which each individual belongs to a single cluster rather than to multiple clusters, so the higher the clusteredness the "better" the clusters.