

Supplementary Figure 2: Leukemia phenotype in secondary recipients

BM cells of a secondary recipient was analysed for the expression of cell surface markers as indicated. Leukemic cells retained their B-cell phenotype (B220, CD43) and were more strongly positive for CD19, IL7Ra and cKit. Similar to the leukemic cells of the primary mouse we found a B220 and CD11b double positive cell population.