CapacityPlus
Serving health workers, saving lives.

Determining priority retention packages for costing to increase attraction and retention in rural and remote areas.

Thank you for coming today. We are working with the Uganda Ministry of Health to learn about the incentives and motivating factors that drive health care providers to move to under-served areas. As current laboratory students looking towards the future, we are interested in the way you consider different incentives and opportunities to practice in diverse settings. This survey should take approximately 20-30 minutes. Your participation will help us quantify the attractive power of incentives and characteristics to motivate health workers to accept postings in rural areas.

Please continue to the next page to read an electronic consent form.

CapacityPlus
Saving health workers, saving lives.

Determining priority retention packages for costing to increase attraction and retention in rural and remote areas.

Informed Consent

Introduction:

You are being asked to take part in this activity by the Ministry of Health to examine the factors affecting health worker motivation for rural practice in Uganda in order to cost priority retention packages. In order to ensure that you are informed about this activity, we are asking you to read this consent form. You will also be asked to sign it. We will give you a copy of this form. Please ask us to explain anything you do not understand.

Purpose of the Activity:

This activity is being conducted by the Ministry of Health in collaboration with CapacityPlus a project working to strengthen human resources for health systems around the world. We will gather information mainly on preferences for job attributes for postings in rural areas. Basic demographic information, including gender and age, will also be collected.

Your Part in the Activity:

If you agree to participate in the survey you will be asked to complete a survey questionnaire that takes approximately 30 minutes. About 300 people will take part in the survey in Uganda.

If You Decide not to Participate in the Study:

Your participation in the study is voluntary, and there is no penalty for refusing to take part.

Confidentiality:

The information you provide will be confidential. We will not put your name on the questionnaire form on which your responses will be recorded. If we publish the results of the activity your name will not be in it.

Benefits:

There is no financial compensation or other personal benefits from participating in this activity. However, your participation and/or answers to the questions may provide insights into the best strategies for designing future incentives packages to help attract and retain health professionals in rural areas.

Risks or Discomfort:

There are no known risks to you resulting from your participation in the activity. If you experience any personal discomfort during the interview you may, as stated above, stop the interview at any time or refuse to answer any questions.

Contact Person for Questions:

If you have any questions about this activity you may contact Norah Nandudu at 0782-331-865.

Consent to Participate:

I have read the foregoing information. I have had the opportunity to ask questions about it and any questions I have asked have been answered to my satisfaction. By clicking YES below, I certify that I am at least 18 years old and consent voluntarily to participate as a subject in this study. I understand that I have the right to withdraw from the study at any time without in any way it affecting my academic standing.

Most Important

20. Thinking in general about the possibility of rural practice, which of the following is the MOST IMPORTANT factor in your decision to work in a rural area?

- You have equipment that always works and a reliable supply of drugs and reagents and gloves
- You are provided basic housing
- Your commitment to the position is short-term (e.g. 2 years)
- The government will pay your full tuition for a study program (e.g. medical school) after your commitment is over
- You are provided adequate salary
- The facility manager is supportive and makes work easier

Section C. Discrete Choice Experiment

Imagine that you have just completed your laboratory study program. you have decided to begin working as a laboratory technician in a health facility. You are checking the newspaper for available job postings, and find that there are two postings available in government run health facilities. Both of the facilities in these postings are located in rural areas. Both facilities are equal distance from the nearest big town, and are equal distance from Kampala. Also, both of these facilities are in areas that are entirely safe from violent conflict. However, each of these two postings has different benefits, including: salary, housing, the equipment to do your job, the length of time you are committed, assistance for future study programs, and support from the facility manager.

Please imagine yourself in this situation and make a real decision as to which of these two postings you would prefer. Although we know that some government benefits to health workers have not been properly implemented in the past, please assume that you will receive the full benefits described for your posting. In making your choice, please read carefully the full list of benefits for each posting and do not imagine any additional features of these postings.
