

Supplementary Figure S3. Tree length (TL) analysis indicates that overparameterization may be occurring within more highly partitioned datasets.

Shown are post-burnin generational TL estimates for partitioning strategies assessed in this study. Note that as the complexity of partitioning increases evidence of increased TL and failed convergence is observed.