

The sensitivity of the method to distinguish the mixed population of 2009 influenza A (H1N1)

The results showed that the microarray detected the minor population in mixed template when it was more than 1% for oseltamivir (top line) and 5% for amantadine (underside line).