Additional Figure 8: Schematic example of contigs, isotigs, and isogroups produced by Newbler. Single reads (black lines) are assembled to contigs. The dotted lines represent subsets of reads implying connections between the contigs. The red, blue, and green line represent the consensus sequence of the contigs. The isogroup consists of two isotigs and in total three different contigs.