

Supplementary Figure 2. Reliable signal increases during observation of facial emotional expressions in both typically developing (a) and ASD group (b) groups comprised the fusiform gyrus and the amygdala (thresholded at $t > 1.83$, $P < 0.05$, corrected for multiple comparisons at the cluster level; small volume correction for the amygdala).