

FIG S1 Schematic overview of the porcine stomach.

The stomach was divided into 3 main regions: the cardiac gland (C), fundus gland (F) and pyloric gland (P) region. These regions were further divided into 2 subregions (A, B), which were collected separately for histology and bacterial re-isolation. The scheme was modified from Koga et al. (1).

1. Koga T, Shimada Y, Sato K, Takahashi K, Kikuchi, Miura T, Takenouchi T, Narita T, Iwata M. 2002. Experimental Helicobacter pylori gastric infection in miniature pigs. J. Med. Microbiol. 51:238-246.