

Chr. 2

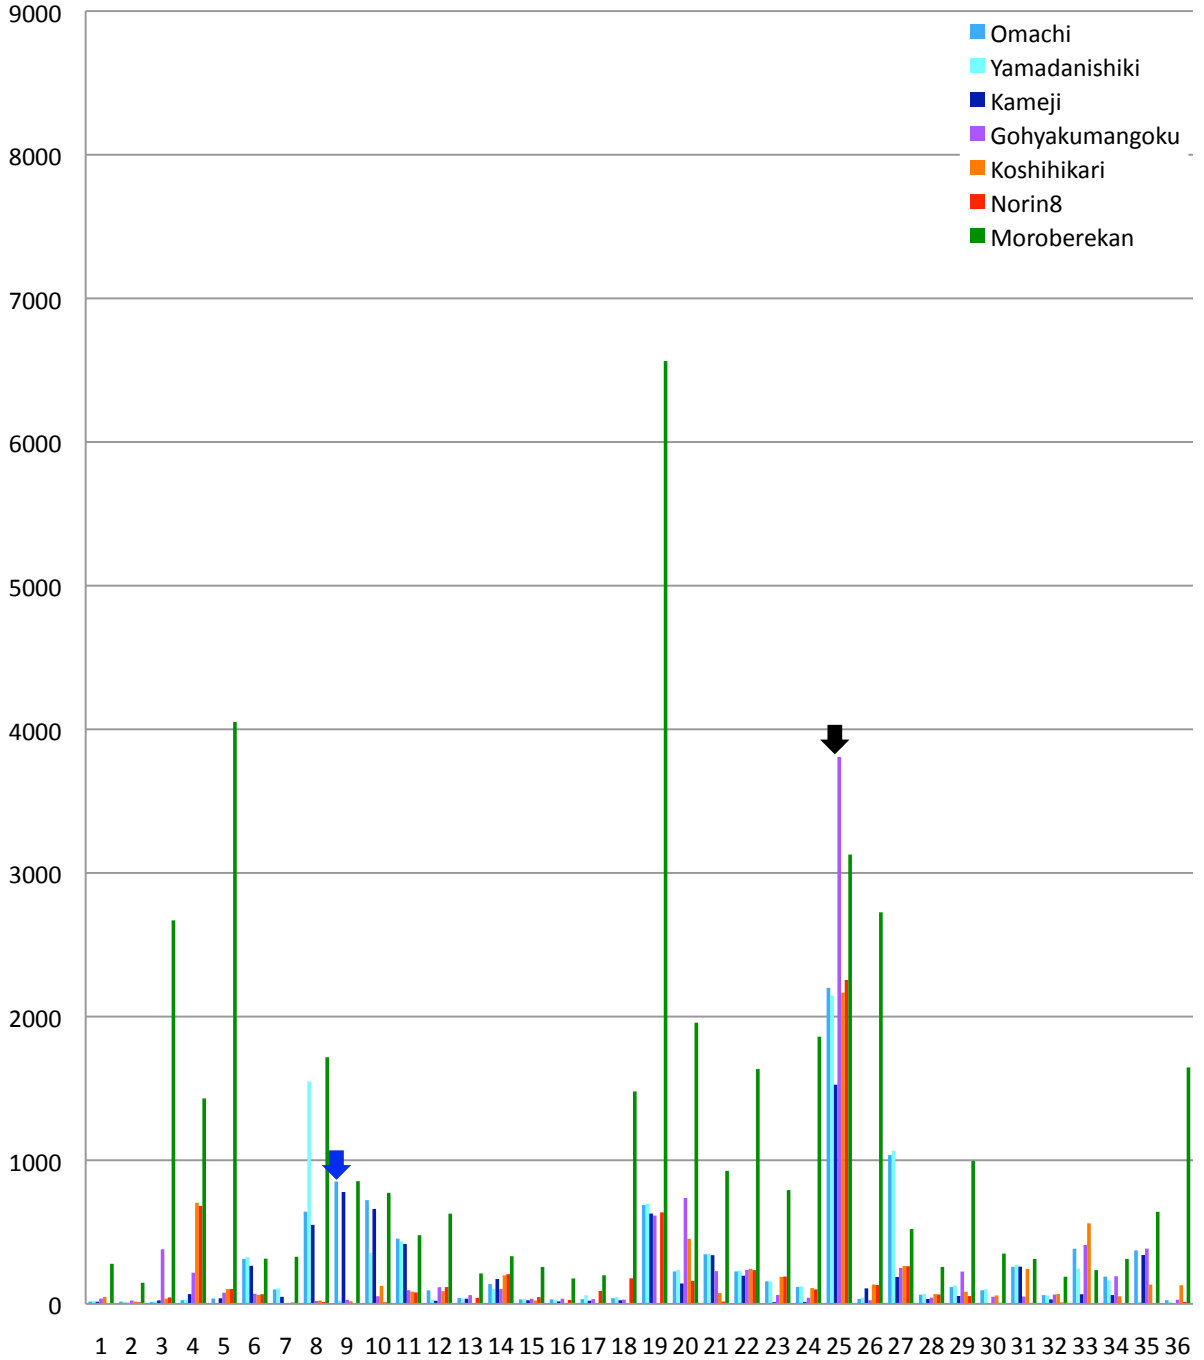

Figure S3. Distribution of SNPs between the different cultivars and Nipponbare reference sequence across the chromosome 2. The x-axis represents the physical distance along each chromosome, split into 1 Mb windows. The y-axis indicates the number of SNPs. The black arrows show the high-density regions common among the 7 cultivars. The blue arrows show the remarkably different regions between Omachi and Yamadanishiki.