

Figure S4. ANMPathway and string method paths of AK. Transition pathways displayed as a function of LID-CORE and NMP-CORE angles. Closed (bottom, square) and Open (top, diamond) substates of AK. String method paths are constructed by performing zero temperature string method calculation on the smoothed energy surface starting from the path produced by the ANMPathway method.