I. Author Conflict of Interest

Each author must disclose all relevant financial, personal or professional relationships with other people or organizations. To protect the integrity of the author, Journal, and the AHA, disclosure must be made of both those relationships that pose a conflict and those that could reasonably be perceived as a conflict of interest or as potentially influencing or biasing the author's work.

Authors' disclosures will appear after the "Acknowledgments" section in the accepted article.

A. Each author is required to identify all relationships within the last 2 years that are relevant to the topic of the manuscript. A relationship is "relevant" if the relationship or interest relates to the topic of the manuscript in terms of any of the following: the same or similar subject matter or topic; the same, similar or competing drug or device, product or service, intellectual property or asset; a drug or device company or its competitor; or has the reasonable potential to result in financial, professional or other personal gain or loss for you, members of your household or employer.

Note these definitions of the categories:

- "Research Grant" includes principal investigator, collaborator or consultant and pending grants as well as grants already received.
- "Other Research Support" includes receipt of drugs, supplies, equipment or other in-kind support.
- "Honoraria" includes speaking fees for symposia and other meetings or occasions.
- "Expert Witness" includes serving as an expert witness, consultant or otherwise providing a deposition, testimony, or other information, analysis or document for a lawsuit, government agency proceeding, grand jury, or other legal proceeding, even if the case did not go to trial.
- "Ownership Interest" includes stock; stock options; partnership, membership, or other equity position in an entity regardless of the form of the entity, or any option or right to acquire such position; or any rights in any patent or other intellectual property.

If an author has no relationships or conflicts to disclose, the author must indicate "None" for the appropriate category(ies).

B. Each author is required to classify each disclosed relationship as either "Significant" or "Modest". A relationship is considered to be "Significant" if (a) the person receives $10,000 or more during any 12 month period, or 5% or more of the person's gross income; or (b) the person owns 5% or more of the voting stock or share of the entity, or owns $10,000 or more of the fair market value of the entity.
