

ESM Fig. 3 The size of the responding cells in wild type and db/db islets is the same. We measured cell perimeter in the two-photon images in the cells that responded to a glucose challenge. Neither the length of the perimeter, nor the frequency distributions of the perimeters were different.