

Figure S3 Genome-wide LOD scores for apple fruit skin color. Each SNP is represented by a single vertical line at the bottom of the plot. Only a single peak associated with skin color was identified on linkage group 9 and this peak overlaps with the known apple skin color locus. The horizontal dashed line represents the significance threshold determined by permutation.