Supplementary Figure S4: Runtime comparison between COMET and USE-ARCH. For this comparison, synthetic variation datasets were constructed as described in the main text, except that each dataset was created using a fixed noise level. The figure reports, for each noise level, mean run time over ten runs on datasets containing 1,090,698 queries.