

Figure S5. Examples of clustered sites with abnormal alternative allele fractions. The plots show the alternative allele fractions and the genomic positions along the chromosomes. The clustered sites were marked in gray and highlighted by red arrows. These sites were clustered in heterochromatin regions such as the centromeres and telomeres or copy number variations.

