

Figure S1: Photomicrograph of a spleen from a 10^4 Leishmania (Viannia) braziliensis infected animal showing normal architecture of the spleen compatible with uninfected animals (Hematoxylin and Eosin, 10X).