

SUPPLEMENTARY FIG. S2. Representative digital reconstruction of panoramic image of LYVE-1 stained control mouse lung. Multiple photomicrographs of immunostaining were captured and stitched to create panoramic images of entire tissue sections. The number, perimeter, and area of lymphatic vessels (brown areas indicated by black arrows) were quantified and subsequently adjusted to the cross sectional area of the entire stitched tissue. Scale bars: 500 μm .