Figure S2: Network representation of population-specific genes identified by variance analysis in Figure 3.
Network were built with Ingenuity Pathway Analysis (IPA) software. Genes were connected based on IPA's knowledge-based gene interaction database. The red gradient represents the intensity of over-expression of each gene in the population considered as compared to the median of all samples.