

Intraciliary calcium initiates left-right asymmetry S. Yuan, L. Zhao, M. Brueckner and Z. Sun
Inventory of Supplemental Information	Page
Figure S1: Pharmacological manipulation of intra-ciliary calcium	2-3
Figure S2: Ratiometric imaging of ICOs and cytosolic calcium waves in the LRO	4-6
Figure S3: ICOs are suppressed in pkd2 mutants	7-9
Figure S4: ICOs precede cytosolic calcium waves during LRO development	10-11
Figure S5: Suppression of intraciliary calcium by arl13b-Pvalb and equimolar expression relative to HA-Pvalb	12-14
Figure S6: Intraciliary calcium is upstream of mesendodermal calcium, LRO size and cilia motility are not affected by Arl13b-Pvalb	15-17
Movie S1: ICOs are biased to the left-side of the LRO	18
Movie S2: pkd2 morphants exhibit a loss of ICOs at the LRO	18-19
Movie S3: c21orf59 morphants exhibit a loss of ICOs at the LRO	19
Movie S4: arl13b-Pvalb mRNA expressing embryos exhibit dampening of ICOs at the LRO	20
Movie S5: Left-sided mesendodermal calcium in control embryo	20
Movie S6: Loss of asymmetrical mesendodermal calcium in arl13b-Pvalb and Pkd2 morphant embryos	21
Methods: Animal care ethics	22
Methods: Zebrafish husbandry and microinjection and Morpholinos	22
Methods: Cloning of GECs, PVALB and mRNA transcription	23
Methods: Cell culture, transfection and live imaging	23-24
Methods: Calcium imaging and pharmacological manipulations	24-25
Methods: Zebrafish cardiac laterality analysis	25-26
Methods: Generation of chimeric DFC embryos	26
Methods: In situ hybridization	27
Methods: In-vivo imaging of intraciliary calcium oscillations in the zebrafish LRO	27-30
Methods: Longitudinal analysis of intraciliary calcium oscillations and cardiac laterality in pkd2 mutant zebrafish	30-31
Methods: Spatial analysis of motile and immotile cilia	31-32
Methods: Suppression of intraciliary calcium in zebrafish LRO	32-33
Methods: Mesendodermal calcium imaging and cilia motility in the zebrafish LRO	33-34
Methods: Arl13b cilia length measurements in the LRO	34-35
Methods: Preparation of embryo lysates and western blots	35
Methods: Statistics	36
Supplementary References	37-38