Figure S1 Distribution of pairwise branch lengths for each subspecies pair across loci. Each count is a pairwise distance from one of the 43,255 gene trees, each a consensus tree from a posterior distribution, from the MrBayes analysis. The similarity between these distributions highlights the near simultaneity of divergence between house mouse subspecies and the limited levels of gene flow.

R. J. Wang, M. A. White, and B. A. Payseur