Figure S2. Outgroup-rooted Neighbour-joining (NJ) tree for evolutionary relationships among partial Rep gene sequences of BFDV. The NJ tree was constructed using partial Rep gene sequences of BFDV from rainbow bee-eaters with other equivalent sequences available on GenBank, using 1000 nonparametric bootstrap resamplings. Green text highlighted clade shows all sequences obtained from rainbow bee-eaters. Red and blue colour texts highlights genotypic variants originated within individual birds 14-1186-02 and 14-1186-04, respectively.
