

Supplemental Figure 5: Individual serial sections used in the generation of the three-dimensional reconstructions shown in Figure 4 of the main text. Eyes are perfused at 40 mmHg via the anterior chamber (AC, panel A) or via the posterior chamber (PC, panel B). The scale bar is 100 μ m and both images are shown at the same magnification. Arrowheads indicate the anterior surface of the iris.