

Fraction of expected chimeric consensus reads (chimeric fraction) due to intermolecular ligation and template switching under different divergence levels between the two template sequences. Each curve shows the average over 100 replicates.

