

Fig. S2. Typical AIHV-1-induced lymphoproliferation in lung, associated with a vein exhibiting endophlebitis (arrow). This histopathological lesion is representative of all rabbits infected with the wild-type AIHV-1. Image A was taken at 100X. Image B is a magnification of the squared area of image A.