Compliance with RCUK and Wellcome Trust Open Access Policies

Both the Research Councils UK (RCUK) and the Wellcome Trust have policies regarding Open Access to articles that have been funded by grants from the Wellcome Trust. If either "Wellcome Trust" or "Research Councils UK" has been selected above, and the authors of the applicable article choose to publish the article as an open access publication, the following policies will apply:

* If the article is to be published pursuant to the "Gold" route of Open Access, the RCUK and the Wellcome Trust require that WKH make the article immediately available pursuant to the Attribution 4.0 Creative Commons License at <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/legalcode> (the "CC BY License"). The CC BY License is the most accommodating of the Creative Commons licenses and allows others to distribute, remix, tweak, and build upon the article as long as they credit the authors for the original creation.

* If the article is to be published pursuant to the "Green" route of Open Access, the RCUK and the Wellcome Trust require that WKH make the article available within six months pursuant to the Attribution- NonCommercial 4.0 License, currently found at <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/> (the "CC BY-NC License"). The CC BY-NC License allows others to build upon the article non-commercially, and although their new work must acknowledge the authors for the original creation and be non-commercial, they do not have to license their derivative works on the same terms.

As a service to our authors, WKH will identify the National Library of Medicine (NLM) articles that require deposit pursuant to the RCUK and Wellcome Trust policies described in this section. This Copyright Transfer Agreement provides the mechanism for identifying such articles.

WKH will transmit the final peer-reviewed manuscript of an article funded in whole or in part by either RCUK or the Wellcome Trust to the appropriate funding agency.

Upon NIH request, it remains the legal responsibility of the author to ensure the provenance of his/her manuscript for purposes of deposit. Authors must submit articles to WKH. Author will not alter the final peer-reviewed manuscript transmitted to NIH.

With respect to the "Green" route of Open Access, author will not make the final peer-reviewed manuscript prior to 6 months following the final article.

Authors of articles that have been funded from grants from the RCUK and Wellcome Trust are required to sign the WKH Open Access License Agreement for the applicable article.
