S12 Figure: Filtering using mate pair information decreases reads from pseudogenes. For each individual, we calculated the fraction of reads that more closely match a pseudogene than an IMGT allele (blue). We then did the same calculation after filtering reads using the location of the paired read (green).