

S5 Fig. Likelihood profile plots for simulation study vs. the empirical data. Green lines indicate the simulated data where 25 trait datasets were randomly aggregated and averaged. Dark green line indicates average profile across all simulations. Red lines indicate empirical data, with light red lines indicating individual profiles for each of 20 trees from the posterior, and the dark green line indicating the average across trees.