

Supplementary information, Figure S2 3D classification scheme.

(A) Classification scheme used to separate the particles set into different close conformational states. (B) Classification scheme used to localize the sub-population of particles in the open state. Details can be found in Methods.