

Supplemental Figure 2. Non-parametric association between urinary malondialdehyde (MDA) concentration with depression symptom (Sx) score (results of generalized additive mixed models analysis). (A) Men, (B) women. Data was adjusted for age, history of hypertension and diabetes mellitus, alcohol consumption, educational level, body mass index, urinary cotinine, fasting glucose level, and systolic blood pressure.