

Figure S9. The origination and fixation processes of GN2 from a genome view. The white box represents the chromosome, while the box in red represents the inserted DNA fragment. The dotted line represents the absence of the inserted DNA fragment in the previous genomic region. The green frame represents the position of the novel GN2 gene's emergence.