Dear Emily,

Here is the email exchange I had with Dr. Spertus in which he gave permission to use the figure for the Personalized Decision Tools paper.

Let me know if this suffices.

Thanks,
Bobby Yeh

Ok will definitely do that.

So glad Daniel had a good experience. Please give him our best.

Hi Bobby,

Thanks again for the great mentorship you provided Daniel. He (and I) are so appreciative. I have not put that figure into a paper. It would be wonderful if you could say something like: 'courtesy of John Spertus' but it is totally up to you. Thanks for asking.

John

Hey John,

Hope Australia was terrific (I am assuming you are back in the US already?).

I have a quick question for you. I am writing a review/editorial type of paper on personalized care, and was going to create some rendition of the figure you often show with the different colored people representing differential benefit. If I create something akin to that for this paper, do you have a reference that I should say "adapted from"?

Bobby

Thank you, Dr Yeh, this is sufficient.

Best,
Emily
